

Walker Mt. Viewpoint Elevation 3,200'

There are lots of safe and comfortable scenic view points to discover picturesque Hugo from the air. Well, from the viewpoints looking down, it feels like being in the air, sorta.

The Walker Mt. Viewpoint is about 9.5 vehicle miles and 32 minutes one-way from the Hugo I-5 interchange (see map).

The Jumpoff Joe Creek Valley from I-5 to the Winona Road junction is a beautiful drive in itself. The valley has a farming and ranching history along with the wonder of gold mining, especially the historic Lucky Queen Mine. An early 1910s lumber town, Mountain, was located in its headwaters, which was the beginning of an unusual 11.5-mile long lumber flume all the way to the Town of Three Pines on the Southern Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

Walker Mountain Elevation 3,858

Walker Mountain is a dominate feature in the Hugo neighborhood. It is 3,858' high and named after two Hugo pioneer brothers, Augustus and Wesley Walker. The brothers were 1850s donation land claimants (Augustus Walker - Donation Land Claim Patent No. 861; Wesley Walker - Donation Land Claim Patent No. 778).
